

February 6, 2002

Abstract of the Disclosure

Provided is an adhesive tape which can be protected by an adhesive material to be used in sealing an envelope, for example, in which adhesive components formulated in the adhesive material can remain in a moistened condition, and which can be easily replaced by allowing easy separation from and connection to casings for the adhesive tape.

5

10098566 . 031102